Abstract

Since of 2019, the International Observatory of Living Wages began the construction of a "Well-being Basket" as the set of goods and services to which an individual must have access with their purchasing power for their personal development and that of their family. In this sense, this paper aims to update the cost of the 2019 basket while making some important methodological clarifications that allow longitudinal monitoring of the selected products. The purpose is not to lose sight of the enormous gap that exists between the cost of the welfare basket and the minimum wage to promote the continuation of the wage recovery policies that the President of the Republic began in 2018. It is highlighted that by 2020 the cost of the basket had a marginal advance, even below general inflation, which reflects an advance in the purchasing power of wages and national price stability.

Introduction

Wages are a fundamental part of the study of labor market theories. These theories are characterized by having different points of view, from those that look at labor as a factor in production and therefore as a commodity that should be out of any regulation, to those in which labor is a right and, therefore, fight for state intervention.

From the perspective of labor as a right, wages should be sufficient to guarantee a dignified life for the worker and his or her family; from the perspective of criticism of the political economy, wages should be sufficient to reconstitute the forces of the worker and reproduce the labor force. However, for the neoclassical school, wages are not a function of the needs of the worker, but of the market forces that will efficiently and unregulated set the prices of labor (wages).

The Mexican Constitution adopted a perspective of work as a right, article 123 states that salary levels should be sufficient for family needs, although during the neoliberal period this was ignored and salaries fell in their purchasing power. In 2018, with the declaration of an end to neoliberalism, a policy of wage recovery was initiated with extraordinary increases that have narrowed the gap, but are still insufficient.

In this year of 2020, the CoVid-19 pandemic caused a drop in production levels as never before recorded, but at the same time it exposed the precarious working conditions and national inequalities to face the pandemic. Therefore, we believe that far from being an argument to stop the wage recovery, it should be an incentive to continue it.

For this study, we proposed a methodology that considers the indispensable salary of a head of household based on the acquisition of a welfare basket. A basket was constructed, composed of a nutritional food part, products to elaborate and preserve food and a non-food part. In the first part of this document, some theoretical background to the construction of the basket is presented and later, the corresponding calculations for a November 2020 price level are shown and compared with the 2019 edition.

I. History of consumer baskets

The basic food basket continues to be a political tool, it is internationally recognized, it considers the minimum requirements of food and nutrition. It also indicates the household's income level and indirectly indicates the level of poverty and social inequality (CONEVAL, 2012).

This year a basic food basket was proposed, designed for the most vulnerable population. It contains food groups such as basic grains, meat, fish, eggs, milk and derived products, personal hygiene, pharmaceuticals, cleaning products, fruits and vegetables. It considers 40 products to meet minimum needs (SEGALMEX, 2020). This basket has been proposed by the Secretariat of Agriculture and Social Development at least to avoid falling into a food need.

Another example of a food basket with which comparison is made is the basket proposed for the CAB INPC (Change of base year for the National Consumer Price Index) for the year 2010 (INEGI 2010) where weightings are taken, but not the food considerations that a family should have with dignity.

Another proposed basket is from CONEVAL, built since 1992 from the response of food and other goods and services consumption, which builds an extreme poverty line by income, which is equivalent to the value of the food basket per person per month and also builds the poverty line by income, which is equivalent to the total value of the food and non-food basket per person per month (CONEVAL, 2020). It takes into account the following products and services:

Methodological document

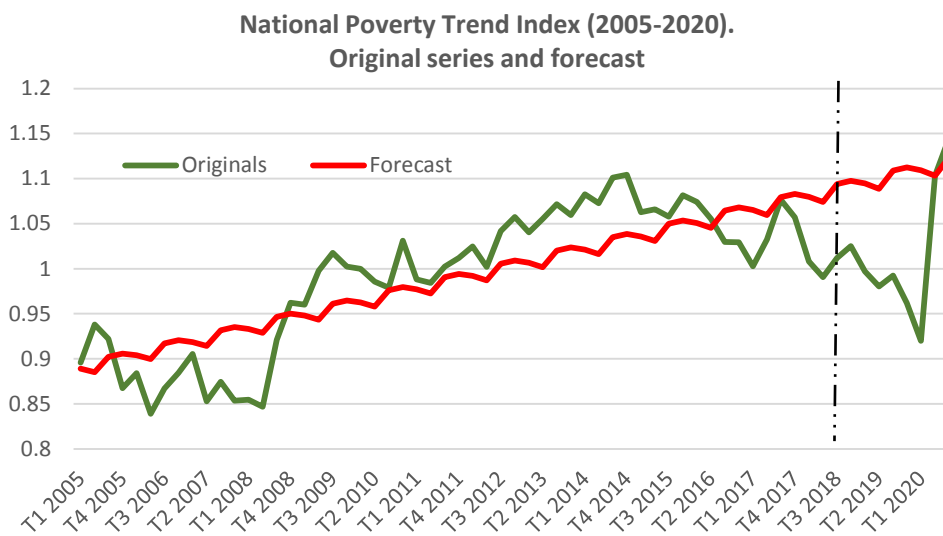

An example of a food and non-food basket that can be compared to the one constructed in this study is that of COPLAMAR. Its name is "normative basket of essential satisfiers" (CNSE). It includes products grouped by categories: household appliances, cosmetics, among others, according to Coplamar; water heater, family telephone, men's pajamas, automobile, vacuum cleaner, among others that are not included in the CNSE, technologies under development (personal computers, compact discs) (Boltvinik, 2012). In order to create the non-food basket, the different forms of access to consumption of decent needs were taken into account. From Coplamar's normative basket, the education items according to the CNSE, to the goods and services in their final presentation.

With regard to the labor trend index, the comparison, with respect to previous six-year periods, of the percentage of the working class that does not have access to a basic food basket seemed to be on the rise due to the increase in unemployment. However, the wage increase counteracted this effect, however, the effect of this year's pandemic caused this effect to lose its downward trend, but in general terms unemployment increased recently given the effects of COVID-19 (INEGI, 2020).

In the urban area, 31.8% of the inhabitants have been living in working poverty since the first quarter of 2020. Their income was not enough to feed all the members of their household, according to the food basket, while in rural areas 47.9% were not able to acquire with their household's labor income the food basket (CONEVAL, 2020). Under the proposed methodology, at least 80% of the population is also not sufficient to have access to a welfare basket.

The comparison of the consumption basket that was proposed is composed of a Food Basket and a Non-Food Basket in the period of 2019 and 2020.

II. Elaboration of consumer baskets

a) Food basket

Kilocalorie factors by sex and age group with moderate level of physical activity were taken into account to calculate the food basket (ANM, 2015). For the daily nutritional requirement in children under 15 years of age it was 1882.5 kcal and for those over 15 years of age it was 2,624. The daily family contribution is 9, 754.5 kcal. Also, the proportion of macronutrients was calculated with the proportion of 60 % of carbohydrates, 15 % of proteins and 25 % of lipids. The distribution of equivalents according to Perez (2014) was used.

The cost of the food basket for the population of Mexico City in 2020 consists of the calculation of the average weight per equivalent according to the components of the food groups. The cost per equivalent derives in the calculation of the price for the amount of consumption required. (see Table 5 in the Annex) (Márquez, Arellano, Meneses & Bandala, 2019).

For expenses related to food preparation, consumption and preservation, such as items and accessories needed for food preparation, the shelf life of each item was taken into account according to the corresponding use (Calderón, 2014). The daily cost of inputs for food preparation, consumption and conservation calculated for inhabitants of Mexico City in 2019 was $29.40, while for 2020 it is $32.84. This represents a variation of 11.7% over the previous year. (see Table 6 in the Annex) (Márquez, Arellano, Meneses & Bandala, 2019).

b) Non-food basket

A distinction was made between items of different needs according to the use that people may need for different members of the household. Different decisions were defined that helped to differentiate at least eight basic needs groups, which are: cleaning and care of the house, personal care, education, culture and recreation, communications, housing and services, clothing, footwear and accessories, glassware, household linen and appliances, household goods and maintenance, leisure items, festivities and other expenses (see Table 7 in the Annex) (Márquez, Arellano, Meneses & Bandala, 2019).

Price exploration was conducted via the internet and in some self-service and department stores (Márquez, Arellano, Meneses & Bandala, 2019). The Laspeyres method was used to calculate the index by product category:

$$L(p) = \frac{\sum_{j=0}^n p_{j,t} q_{j,0}}{\sum_{j=0}^n p_{j,0} q_{j,0}} \quad (1)$$

Where

$p_{j,t}$ is the price j in the final period

$p_{j,0}$ is the price j in the initial period

$q_{j,0}$ is the amount j in the initial period

Table 4. Results of each basket and index

| Basket | Price 2019 | Precio 2020 | Index |
|----------|-------------|-------------|--------|
| Food | $9,570.04 | $9,355.83 | -2.24% |
| PCCA | $881.92 | $985.11 | 11.70% |
| Non food | $15,142.46 | $15,526.24 | 2.53% |
| Total | $25,594.43 | $25,867.18 | 1.07% |

Source: Own elaboration with data taken from the 3 baskets proposed (CBA, PCCA, CBNA)

Conclusions

The cost of the total non-food consumption basket by the end of 2019 was $15,142.47, giving us a daily cost of $504.74. By the end of 2020, the search for items with similar characteristics to those observed in 2019 was done again, in another case the same item and its price variation was observed. This time we found a total price of $15,481.59. In this way, we obtained a variation of 2.24% with respect to last year and obtained a daily price of $517.54.

At the end of the sum of the expenditure of the three baskets, a 1.07% increase is obtained, dealing with the food basket, the food preparation, consumption and conservation basket and the basic non-food basket. It has a price of $25,594.43 for 2019 and $25,867.17 for 2020 in total. The comparison. The cost of the basket per day is $862.24 which compared to the minimum wage of $123.22, gives us a difference of $739.02.
